Independence Day a Busy Day for Tri-Town

By Jean Perry

There is always so much happening on the Fourth of July in Tri-Town. Residents of Marion and the surrounding towns were delighted with the return of the Marion fireworks display after a year hiatus. Silvershell Beach was a popular spot to gather to watch the fireworks to the sounds of the patriotic music played by the Marion Concert Band.

Marion's July 4th Parade this year was a hit when it came to the festive float competition. In the end, the Beverly Yacht Club took the prize for best float. There were also antique cars and tractors, and many local veterans received applause throughout the 2.1-mile parade route through Marion village.

The parade is organized each year by the Benjamin D. Cushing VFW Post 2425 and the Town of Marion.

This year's Mattapoisett Road Race drew hundreds, over a thousand actually, of runners (and spectators) on Saturday morning. Jay McMahon, 19, of Swansea took first place for the men's category with a time of 26:21. Megan O'Brien, 20, of Chicago was the first woman to cross the finish line at 30:20.

Marine Sergeant William Simpson, 25, finished the race at 60:01 in his fatigues with a 70-pound pack on his back honoring seven Marines killed in March when their helicopter crashed in Florida.

"The race went well and it was nice to see everyone cheering because they actually knew why I was running it this year," said Simpson. The best part of the race though, he said, was the cold beer waiting for him at the finish line. "My shins feel like they are going to explode," said Simpson on Tuesday, July 7.

nearby beach in Marion that has happened for hundreds, perhaps thousands of years. On this morning, the first female endangered diamondback terrapin returned to the site of her own birth, now the newly restored turtle habitat on the beach of the Cove, to dig three "test nests" before leaving behind her precious eggs.

The yearly return of the diamondback terrapin is a time to celebrate for Don Lewis, AKA "The Turtle Guy" and his wife, Sue Wieber Nourse. And this year, there is even more reason to celebrate. The restoration of a small patch of sand that residents of Jenney Lane and the surrounding area have come together to create is now the cradle to a number of nests of terrapin eggs. These precious eggs will be protected until they hatch to ensure the ongoing survival of the terrapin in Marion.

"When we began our work in Sippican Harbor and Hammetts Cove, diamondback terrapins were on the brink of extirpation," wrote Lewis in an email update of the project. The turtle population consisted only of aging adults with no juveniles or "recruits." Terrapins are not migratory, which means, said Lewis, that once the estuary loses its population, "it is largely gone forever."
The main reason for the decline in the terrapin population in Massachusetts has been the loss of habitat as humans develop the coastline.

Lewis and "Team Turtle" were hoping to alter the fate of the terrapins before "forever" came to Hammetts Cove. They were hoping the new "turtle garden" would turn things around for the terrapins. Now, there is reason to hope.

On June 13, two terrapins came to the new turtle garden to explore the terrain and dig test nests before crawling back to the sea to wait for the right moment to return. Lewis and Nourse have taken turns "babysitting" the turtles as the terrapins test the new turtle garden. On June 17, the couple reported that they had their very first natural nest deposited in "Turtle Beach," as the residents now affectionately call it.

When terrapins choose other nesting areas just outside the turtle garden, Lewis and Nourse transplant them into the sanctuary of the turtle garden, which will leave an impression on the newly hatched terrapins so they in the future will lay their eggs in the same safe location.

On June 30, Lewis and Nourse were even more excited to find a young turtle "lady" they had previously documented in April at Sippican Harbor's main mating aggregation for terrapins, at Head of Harbor north of Burr Brothers.

"We had never before documented a turtle from Head of Harbor nesting at the Cove, which indicates that the Cove serves a larger population of Marion's diamondback terrapin population than we had known," said Lewis. "Of course, that makes the turtle garden even more important as critical nesting habitat for threatened diamondback terrapins in Buzzards Bay!"

As of July 7, Turtle Beach now hosts seven diamondback terrapin nests, five of which were laid naturally without prompting or "imprinting" by humans.

"The ladies are seeing the turtle garden from the creek," said Lewis on July 6 during a phone interview. "It was put in the exact right location, which means it will be self-perpetuating. Which means that when I'm long dead and nobody remembers why the sand pit was put there, they'll continue to go on..."

The nesting sites are secured with a "predator excluder," a small cage-like structure to keep the eggs and the hatchlings safe until Lewis and Nourse and Team Turtle can transport the baby terrapins safely to the sea.

The nesting period should end in about a week or so, and the eggs will incubate in the sand beneath the warm sun until about late August until early October.

Lewis and Nourse have been jointly following the diamondback terrapins in Buzzards Bay since the 1990s, some of which they have tracked for as long as 35 years.

Lewis says, if you see a diamondback terrapin or Eastern box turtle, do not hesitate to call them at 508-274-5108.

On every Tuesday until August 4, all are welcome to the Tabor Academy fields on Spring Street by the chapel to register and run. In order to register, families should arrive between 6:00 and 6:15 pm for the 6:30 pm starting time.

Those who run three or more races during the summer are eligible for an award on the last night. The top three male and female runners from each age group (7-8, 9-10, 11-12, and 13-14) will receive trophies.

Additionally, all finishers receive ribbons upon completion of each week's race and a T-shirt each summer.

Each week, Race Director Chris Adams posts results to the Marion Mile Facebook page. Volunteers assist Adams in putting on the event, including Jim Soden, Tabor alumni, and current students. Last week, Julia O'Rourke, Sarah Adams and Binjo Emmanuel helped Adams put the race together. Parent volunteers are welcomed as well.

On the first night of the summer, Meg Hughes won the mile race in a photo finish with Davis McCain who ran times of 5:35 and 5:36 respectively. Hughes also achieved her 5th age group record in this time, beating the five-year-old record held by Gwen McCain of Marion.

Finishing out the top five racers were Harrison Hughes (6:04), Stephen Old (6:05), and Miles Reed (6:07). The top seven runners ran miles under seven minutes.

Seventy-six runners raced in the older kids' race, while 46 competed in the half-mile.

Grady Oliveira and Lyla Dorschied came in right together in times of 4:30 and 4:31, immediately followed by Jack Goodwin. Rounding out the top six runners who ran times under five minutes were Gisele Duchaine (4:41), Dylan Ladd (4:55), and Natalie Meleo (4:57).

Registration is open to newcomers each week. Checks must be made payable to Village Run and more information can be found at www.marionrecreation.com/marion-mile.html or on the aforementioned Facebook page. Registration forms are available online and on race

Town Seeks Counsel on Proposed Solar Farm

Rochester Board of Selectmen

By Jean Perry

The Rochester Board of Selectmen during a July 6 meeting commiserated with a dozen residents over their fears of a 10-acre solar farm slated for the town center's historic district.

"As a member of the Board of Selectmen, you have an opinion," said Selectmen Chairman Richard Nunes. "My opinion is it's a bad location.... Why that site? Where could you have put it in a more worse location?"

Nunes told residents the board is seeking assistance from town counsel, and they may consider a special town counsel to assist the Rochester Historical District Commission, Planning Board, and other concerned boards if needed throughout the permitting process for the project.

"That's already in the works," Town Administrator Michael McCue stated. "I don't want to say 'a slippery slope,' but there's things we need to do as a town ... to make sure everything is done within the confines of the law."

Commission, Debra Ladd, voiced her support for the development of solar energy facilities in Rochester and in general, but not in the heart of the town's historic district.

"It's a very precious district. It's been there for many hundreds of years and we've taken great pains [to protect it]. There are a lot of other places that probably could be chosen that are better," said Ladd, adding that the purpose of establishing a historic district is to protect the characteristic, history, and nature of the district. "Certainly these panels would not do that. They would do nothing to enhance the historic district at all."

The solar farm would require the clear-cutting of 10 acres of wooded land at the site of the old Gibbs dairy farm between New Bedford Road and Dexter Lane, abutting several residences and the historic cemetery.

Current Historical District Commission member Laurie Vincent was concerned that developer NextSun Energy's plans have changed several times since the company first approached the commission back in January. According to Vincent, the developer's plans once showed a 60-foot wooded buffer zone surrounding the solar arrays, but now the plan reflects only a 20-foot buffer. She also opposed the latest plan to cut down trees within that buffer zone that exceed 20 feet in height to prevent shadowing on the arrays.

"There is no solar array anywhere in the State of Massachusetts in a historic district," said Vincent. She said she hopes this will serve as a precedent for the town to prevent such a solar farm from being built within their historic district.

Abutter to the proposed project, Matthew Monteiro, whom the selectmen had earlier approved for appointment to the Historical District Commission, said he had a few major concerns, including, "It's very close to the wetlands.... It's going to change the drainage and affect the wetlands." Monteiro also brought up declining property values.

"We're not saying you can't put a solar farm in Rochester," said Ladd. "We're just saying, be a little bit more careful of where you choose to put it."

Selectman Brad Morse, seeing that most of the concerns were outside the purview of the Board of Selectmen, suggested to residents that they allow the Planning Board and the Conservation Commission to oversee the process and address residents' concerns.

Town Meeting members had recently passed a zoning bylaw amendment allowing for mixed-use within the limited commercial district zone in the center of town, with the intent of permitting development of shops and offices or apartments, mentioned Nunes.

"Like a village effect, where people can live and purchase things from stores," said Nunes. "And I don't really see how a solar farm in an area where you're trying to develop a village district is going to encourage something that you just passed. And yet, right next door you have a solar farm."

"It doesn't make sense," replied Selectman Naida Parker. Parker upheld the town's support for solar, but stressed that location is key. She said the town should look toward the Massachusetts Historical Commission and the local Historical District Commission as the "biggest gun or stick" in the fight to protect the historical town center from the development of a solar farm.

Parker said that although in the past she has not always agreed with the commission, "This is one of Nunes continued with his opposition to the location of the proposed solar farm.

"You're basically taking ten acres of property that is connected to the downtown area," said Nunes, "in a place where you just zoned for mixed-use ... and you're making it absolutely non-usable to the public." Even if they put up a berm for screening, said Nunes, "Is that the answer? Simply hiding it?"

McCue told residents he would keep in contact with them as the process unfolds and alert them of upcoming board and commission meetings pertaining to

Also during the meeting, the board approved a contract with Comcast, but after a brief discussion continued from the last selectmen's meeting, they board decided not to pursue the installation of a live feed hub at the police station.

Nunes had long advocated for making a deal with Comcast to pay for half of the $16,000 it would cost to install the hub, but Morse and Parker agreed that the service was not worth the cost to the taxpayers and the cable consumers.

The next meeting of the Rochester Board of Selectmen is scheduled for July 20 at 6:30 pm at the Rochester Town Hall.

Plowing and Parking Bring Out Residents

Marion Board of Selectmen

A great number of Marion residents turned out to discuss two matters with the Marion Board of Selectmen during its July 7 meeting that was held in the community room at the police station.

First up was the matter of plowing on private roadways. Al Caron, who championed the matter through to its acceptance at Town Meeting, came before the selectmen to ask what the next steps would be in giving Town Administrator Paul Dawson explained that first and foremost was the surveying of all private roads whose residents are in agreement with opting into having their road plowed by the Town. He said these roads would need to be assessed to make sure they are fully accessible for the type of equipment the Town and its sub-contractors use for snow removal.

Roads that need repairs will have to be fixed with the costs incurred by the residents in the neighborhood. Dawson said, "speed bumps will have to go..." and once a roadway is serviced by the Town, it will have to be open to the public like all other public roads in town.

Some private neighborhoods will not be participating as noted by Ed North, 62 Cove Circle. North said Dawson told him that it is an opt-in program, so neighborhoods not wanting public plowing services need not do anything. However, Dawson did indicate that such neighborhoods should let the Town know they are not interested in having the Town plow their roads to eliminate the need for the Town to survey the roads for acceptance.

Once all private roads that will be included have been surveyed, residents will receive notification of the necessary repairs from the Highway Department before September, giving them ample time to make those repairs.

The other matter bringing the residents out was the issue of parking congestion on South Street. Nearly every household on this village street was represented by one or more residents with the consensus being that something has to be done.

Since cars are allowed to park on both sides of the street, emergency vehicles have been hard pressed to provide emergency services, say the residents.

Police Chief Lincoln Miller had suggested to the selectmen that they consider restricting parking to only one side of the street and restricting commercial vehicles altogether.

In the end, after further discussion with the residents, selectmen decided that parking would only be allowed on the north side of the road from Water to Pleasant Streets. The residents were pleased.

Also meeting with the selectmen was John O’Roake of Good Energy. Good Energy was suggested to the town by SRPEDD for energy aggregation programs. O’Roake explained that Marion will be part of a 22-community coalition consisting of 550,000 households with the “objective to lower rates.” He said the communities may realize from 10 to 15 percent in savings by participating in the program.

O’Roake also explained that energy suppliers throughout the country have tapped out large commercial contracts and realize that, in order to grow their businesses, they need to reach out to cities and towns interested in energy aggregation programs.

“There is strength in numbers,” said O’Roake. He said towns have the leverage of selecting either two- or three-year contracts that lock in energy rates, and that Marion would also be able to select how much of the energy they purchase shall be produced from alternative sources such as solar.

In other business, the selectmen voted to fund the Marion Music Hall’s upcoming gala titled “Our Fair Lady.” The benefit fundraiser will be a musical priced to

SIGNS OF AGINGS

My 14 year old Jack Russell terrier doesn’t sleep well anymore but wanders around the house all night. Yesterday I found him stuck between the bed and wall. Does he have a brain tumor?

It is possible that your dog has a tumor, but it is more likely that he is simply becoming senile. The brain may degenerate before the rest of the body in a dog just as in a person. Signs of senility in dogs are associated with changes in normal behavior patterns. Wandering at night, inappropriate barking, accidents in the house, staring into space and getting lost all can be signs of degeneration of the brain.

There are some new treatments available for senility in dogs. One is a new prescription diet from Hills that is loaded with antioxidants and things like glucosamine. Surprisingly, we have had some really good results where dogs become more playful, alert and more like their old selves after a few weeks on this new food.

MassDOT Requests More Acushnet Road Data

Mattapoisett Planning Board

By Marilou Newell

Highway Surveyor Barry Denham met with the Mattapoisett Planning Board during its July 6 meeting to request approval of plans for the rebuilding of the Acushnet Road culvert. The project has been inching its way through time-consuming processes required by several state agencies. With the acceptance of the town's plans that have been executed by Ken Motta of Field Engineering, the Planning Board was the last of local boards from which Denham needed approval.

Denham said, "The goal is to keep the site much as it is now..." in terms of the appearance of this scenic way and historic location.

Denham also told the board that the Massachusetts Department of Transportation has requested additional stream flow data, but didn't indicate that this request would hinder the forward movement of the plans through the levels of state review where it

Also meeting with the board for an informal discussion was David McIntire regarding 32 house lots inside the Bay Club subdivision. He said, "I didn't want to move forward, spend money if there were stumbling blocks," as he explained changes he wishes to make to the plans.

Presently, the neighborhood in question is planned as a street containing 32 single-family house lots. Now, with the recent changes to zoning bylaws, he proposed changing those plans to 16 zero lot line condominium duplex structures. McIntire put to rest concerns that the proposed condominiums would be timeshares or rental units. He said the homeowner's association covenants that regulate ownership inside the Bay Club do not allow rental units.

The board members saw nothing objectionable about the proposed changes to the type of housing units McIntire wishes to build.

The Mattapoisett Congregational Church, represented by Engineer Doug Schneider, presented a Form A request to section land held by them for a deeded parking space. The area is currently part of a deed for 20 Barstow Street, a property the church owns, but has historically been used by the church for parking. The change would allow the parking area to become permanently part of the church property versus part of the residential lot. The board approved the request.

The board also voted to allow the last lot held in Phase I of the Brandt Island subdivision to be released for sale. It moved that proceeds be held in escrow so that the funds could be used to make improvements and complete the construction of the Phase I roadway.

The condition of the roadway and possible irregularities in the handling of drainage systems in this subdivision have long been bones of contention between town boards and various developers over the years. Town counsel will advise the board on how the funds will be held.

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Planning Board is scheduled for July 20 at 7:00 pm in the Mattapoisett Town Hall conference room.

of two 44-foot by 12-foot ground mounted solar arrays on their property within the 100-foot buffer zone to a bordering vegetated wetland.

The 1,056 square-foot solar project is being developed under the management of Direct Energy Solar, and representative Michael Whalen, without copies of the spec sheet or site plan that evening, secured a negative determination, giving the project the go ahead without the requirement of a Notice of Intent application.

But not so fast – Conservation Agent Laurell Farinon said she visited the site and found everything looking in order, but noted the presence of salamanders and a considerable amount of salamander larvae at the site. She also saw what she thought was likely a vernal pool. Farinon had to contact the Massachusetts Natural Heritage & Endangered Species Program to identify the salamander species in case it was endangered and is awaiting a reply.

Some members of the commission had questions, such as why the site couldn't be moved further away from the wetlands and away from the buffer zone.

"At a certain point, we sacrifice our quality due to shading," said Whalen, pointing out that an existing garage lies at the site which could inhibit sunlight if the arrays were moved toward it.

"It's outside the 25-foot no touch zone," said

Chairman Rosemary Smith. "It doesn't look like it's going to make any more disturbance than what's already been done there."

The commission issued the negative determination with the stipulation that Farinon be notified two weeks before work begins.

Also during the meeting, the Lalli brothers, facing an Enforcement Order for unpermitted activities within wetlands, did not have what the commission requested from the last meeting, but their attorney, Andrea McKnight, gave a number of excuses as to why the Lallis have yet to produce a name of a botanist to survey the wetlands in question at the High Street property.

McKnight said Travis and Dustin Lalli contacted eight of the botanists from a list given to them by Farinon, but one of them declined, one's quote was too expensive, and five others promised quotes for later next week. Another, said McKnight, wanted to speak to Farinon before issuing the men a quote. McKnight also said Farinon being away on vacation, along with the 4th of July weekend, slowed the process down for the Lallis.

"I did touch base with that office [today]," said Farinon. "All they wanted was a copy of the Enforcement Order." Farinon continued, "I said, did you ask the property owner for that, and she said they were told they didn't have it."

So that had nothing to do with it, said Farinon. She said the Lallis had plenty of copies of the Enforcement Order to provide to the botanist.

McKnight branded it a miscommunication, saying if that was all the botanist needed, she could have emailed it or faxed it to them.

Commission member Michael Conway was unconvinced.

"What seems to be going on here is another delay tactic," said Conway. Conway said the commission still needed a date for when a botanist would issue ConCom a report. "Otherwise, we have to push the Enforcement Order."

McKnight told the commission, "We're not dragging our feet; we have eight different names ... I assure you this is not a delay tactic. It's Fourth of July weekend. A lot of people go on vacation."

ConCom member Kevin Cassidy sternly told McKnight that the commission could not keep extending the time frame for the Lallis to hire a botanist.

"I think it's time we put our foot down and say you have to have it by then, and if we don't, we're going to contact the DEP."

But unfortunately, as Town Counsel Blair Bailey pointed out, whether the commission goes to the DEP or whether it orders Bailey to proceed with legal action in Superior Court, "it's not a heck of a lot faster than getting done what you want to get done." And that is, waiting for the Lallis to produce a name. Bailey suggested issuing a "drop dead date" as a deadline for the Lallis to hire a botanist.

"Your patience is thin, mine is ... everybody who's been involved," said Bailey. "But if you can make steps to get down to that final determination, it makes sense to me to get to it that way..."

The commission decided on a drop dead date of August 18 for a botanist to generate a report. Smith asked McKnight if that date was agreeable or realistic for her and her clients.

"I am optimistic that one of those [botanists] will be able to get us a report by then," said McKnight. "Can I swear it on my first-born child? No." Because, who knows? The botanist could die the day before issuing the report. A couple pairs of eyes rolled from the conference room table.

The commission voted in favor of allowing the Lallis to move forward with pushing the earth they moved to dig a trench back into the trench within one week, and allowed the matter to be continued until the September 1 meeting with the stipulation that McKnight provide the commission with biweekly updates to discuss during the meetings leading up to September.

pre-submission conference for the Gas Station Allied Ventures property located at 439 Wareham Street.

Arnold Johnson appeared before the board in order to reiterate his request for a one-year extension of the approval for his property, 806 Mill Street, the former site of the Frigate Steak House. Johnson's site plan review was approved by the board in 2013 but expires on July 25, 2015.

"A number of us were not here when this was originally approved," Chairman Robert Lane said. "We have the right to extend the site plan review for one year or to not extend the site plan review."

Lane cautioned that if the board granted an extension, the resulting extension would not address the applicant's right to use the property as specified in the original site plan.

When Johnson took to the microphone, he explained the steps he had already taken to bring the property to its current state. Multiple family illnesses in the past year had stalled Johnson's plans, but now Johnson is ready to move forward upon receiving a final cost estimate for part of the proposed year-round produce store.

"Being a small, family-run operation of what we were trying to do, that put 2014 into the backburner," Johnson said.

"Coming into 2015, I've done research and have a contractor lined up. I have everything the Building Department requires ... I could go in tomorrow and file a building permit; I'm just waiting on this one last price," he concluded.

After brief deliberation, the board unanimously voted to extend the site plan approval, with the understanding that Johnson will return to the board with a new application if a high final cost estimate forces him to revisit his business plans.

Johnson clarified that in such an event, he would scale the building back from a year-round produce store to a seasonal farm stand, although he would keep the building's footprint and look the same in order to keep the floor plan spacious for customers.

"This would be a desirable development for the town, and I think if there's anything we could do to help that, we should," board member Jennifer Francis said of the project.

Lane began the continuation of the pre-submission conference for Gas Station Allied Ventures by explaining the next steps of the application process. Upon conclusion of the pre-submission conference, which would inform the applicant about the necessary paperwork in order to file a formal application with the board, the board would review the submitted materials, hold a public hearing, and make its final decision. The sole purpose of the pre-submission conference, Lane said, was to identify the necessary materials that the applicants must compile for the board to review.

Francis, who had earlier been appointed as the coordinator for the project, listed the following necessary materials: a major site plan review, an environmental assessment (although Francis noted that many items under the environmental assessment fall under the Commonwealth's purview given that the project is a gas station), a stormwater management assessment, a public hearing, a list of abutters to the property in question, and a mailing to those abutters informing them of the project and the public hearing. The board also requires an application fee. Finally, Francis noted that the board is not going to waive the site plan details.

After reviewing this information, the board voted to conclude the pre-submission conference and adjourned for the evening.

The next meeting of the Marion Planning Board will be on Monday, July 20 at 7:00 pm at the Marion Town House.

Keel Awards

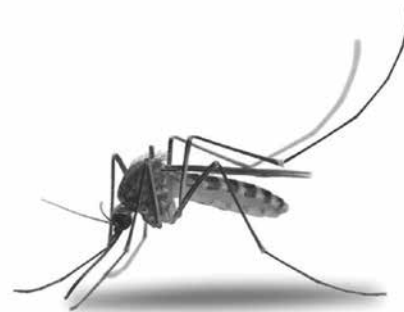

The Wanderer is pleased once again to announce that we are soliciting nominations for our 20th annual "Wanderer Keel Awards." The yearly community service honor – which is presented to one Tri-Town resident from each of the three central towns in our circulation area – will be announced in our July 30 edition, and each winner will be the subject of a short feature highlighting their contributions to the local community. But The Wanderer needs your help in selecting these "unsung heroes."

The requirements are simple. Nominees must be legal residents, for at least five years, of Mattapoisett, Marion or Rochester and must have contributed in some way to the overall benefit of the community – either directly to town residents, or indirectly through efforts in promoting town activities, or working to keep the wheels of local government well oiled. The only restriction is that these persons cannot benefit from their efforts in any other way – either financially or politically (hence, sitting elected officials are not eligible).

In doing this, we hope to applaud those who are rarely recognized for their countless hours of service and focus on the many people behind the scenes who remain otherwise anonymous, but provide crucial support to many town functions. Like the keel of a ship, which keeps the vessel from capsizing, the recipients of the Annual Wanderer Keel Award will be recognized for their stalwart efforts in keeping the community on an “even keel.”

To the Editor:

We have compiled the results of the 2015 alewives (herring) migration as recorded by an electronic fish counter on the Mattapoisett River at Snipatuit Pond in Rochester.

This year's count of herring in the Mattapoisett River was 42,332. That is approximately 13,000 fish less than the 2014 total of 55,429 which was a 156% increase over 2013. This year's decrease of 13,000 fish is about 25% less than last year. Due to the very cold weather

We were not successful in getting an electronic counter to operate correctly on the Sippican River at Leonard's Pond. The ladder at Leonard's Pond appeared to function ideally for fish passage even through the latter part of the season with lower water. Comments from recreational boaters indicated that they had seen herring spawning in the upper regions of the pond on a number of occasions. This would tell us that the ladder at Hathaway's Pond and Leonard's Pond provided successful access to the spawning area.

Once the herring population reaches a point where a sustainable harvest plan can be formulated, filed with Division of Marine Fisheries, and approved, harvesting could be resumed.

day Acushnet Road culvert at Tinkham Pond. It's been suggested that this group of hard working residents might have constructed the culvert over a long weekend. Since construction, animal and motor vehicle traffic has moved across the culvert unimpeded, water has flowed freely through the culvert, fish have swam and spawned in the pond, and vegetation in the area has flourished. This undertaking is another example of a job well done by those who came before us.

The north end of Acushnet Road is a very quiet, scenic, back country road and I suspect that many in Town have never driven over the culvert and many may not know where it is. This past October, the culvert was deemed to be "unsafe" and while the Massachusetts Department of Transportation did not condemn the culvert, they did recommend that it be closed to vehicle traffic for safety concerns. For reasons I'm not sure of, no attempt was made to temporarily repair or shore up the culvert to extend its useful life or to keep it open until a more permanent solution to the problems was identified and implemented. The culvert itself is roughly 25-feet by 20-feet, smaller than some rooms in some of the buildings around Town. We're told that the permanent fix is still four months away – and perhaps longer if we get hit with an early winter. We have learned that the project is estimated to cost at least $600,000 – perhaps $700,000 by the time all is said and done. I'm sure that everyone will agree that this is excessive – and please remain mindful that these monies will need to come from our collective pockets –and as far as I know we don't even get to vote on this costly project! We are fortunate that this Town has a pool of very talented and capable designers, engineers and construction professionals and that we are a community known for being good stewards of our waterways and natural surroundings– not unlike the group of Town's people that built the culvert 100 plus years ago. We have within our community the expertise and energy to fix the culvert. So why after nine months isn't this project behind us?

What's different now is government overreach – as a public project, the reconstruction of the Acushnet Road culvert requires the review, comment and signoff from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Department of Fish and Game, Mass Department of Transportation, the Buzzards Bay Coalition, Mass Department of Environmental Protection, the Mass Historical Commission, along with review and signoff from at least four Mattapoissett Boards and Commissions. (I'm sure I've missed one or two entities – my apologies!) Every stop along the way results in another suggestion or requirement or recommendation or idea that must then be incorporated into the plan – a plan that now includes sidewalks, a widening of the road, the reconstruction of the road before and after the culvert, wetlands remediation and on and on – and this results in rising costs and a delay in the reopening of the culvert – the main objective that I think has been lost in the discussion. The project to reconstruct and reopen the culvert is no longer the focus of the "project" – the initial design and engineering was done months ago; the "project" has become the review (project add-ons), oversight and management of the approval process to begin construction! At a recent meeting, Selectmen board member Jordan Collyer, expressing frustration, made mention that the delay with this project wouldn't happen in the private sector – and I agree with him. More often than not, we have private projects underway in this Town that are more detailed, larger in scope, more complex and more expensive than the Acushnet Road culvert project – and in most cases, with the approval of our local Boards and Commissions coupled with project reviews by qualified and skilled Town inspection employees, these private projects proceed in a timely, transparent fashion where the current market dictates the project cost. Without question this expanded public project process has more than doubled (maybe tripled!!) the cost for the culvert replacement – an extra $300,000 (or more) that I think would be better spent in our schools or perhaps could be used as a down payment to construct our much needed Fire Station.

How did this happen? We did it to ourselves – we have allowed all levels of “government” to add more and more regulations to an already burdened system – we, the citizens, haven’t pushed back hard enough and we haven’t asked the tough questions particularly as they relate to the intrinsic value of each and every regulation. Well intentioned regulations, perhaps– but together, the bucket of rules and regulations has pushed common sense aside along with financial accountability. All across this great nation, our infrastructure is falling apart (a National embarrassment) and every day the risk of another major disaster increases. We’re told by our public leaders that we, the taxpayers, haven’t provided enough funding to address the problem – I argue that it’s not a funding problem but an over spending, out of control management problem, a problem of overreach – let’s move the public officials from a management role to an advisory role and let’s allow private industry and the trade professionals to manage the revitalization of our infrastructure in a cost effective and timely manner. If we did this, we would be able to complete twice as many public projects with the same dollars now required for one project. We’re spending more money than we need to with no discernible return on our investment.

For their July book, "Just the Facts" Nonfiction Book Discussion Group will be reading Eighty Days: Nellie Bly and Elizabeth Bisland's History-Making Race Around the World by Matthew Goodman. On November 14, 1889, crusading reporter for Joseph Pulitzer's World newspaper Nellie Bly left New York City by steamship on a quest to break the record for the fastest trip around the world. Also departing from New York that day, and heading in the opposite direction by train, was a young journalist from Cosmopolitan magazine, Elizabeth Bisland. Each woman was determined to outdo Jules Verne's fictional hero Phileas Fogg, and circle the world in less than 80 days. Eighty Days brings these trailblazing women to life as they race against time and each other, unaided and alone. We will discuss this book on Thursday, July 16 at 6:30 pm. Copies are available at the desk.

The Café Parlez' selection for July is Benjamin Franklin's Bastard by Sally Cabot. Born to a 16-year-old serving girl and with Benjamin Franklin as his father, William grows up with Benjamin and Deborah Franklin, but with Anne, his birth mother, always watching over him in secret. William rises to become Royal Governor of New Jersey, but, when the colonies begin their fight for independence, he is torn between allegiance to his beloved monarchy and his own father. A poignant tale of passion, family, love and war, this book examines a thrilling period of American history. We will discuss this novel on Thursday, July 30 at 6:30 pm. Books are available at the desk, or bring your own copy.

Mattapoisett Summer Reading is in Full Swing

Everyday heroes take center stage this summer at the Mattapoisett Library. The theme "Every Hero Has a Story" is being celebrated through reading, creative writing, arts and crafts, and visits by many local heroes in the community.

Young patron Cameron Weaver has set up a collection bin for donated canned goods and other non-perishable food items to help stock local food pantries. The need for staples and fresh food exists all year long in every community. Everyone is encouraged to help Cameron see that the pantries are well stocked.

On Thursday, July 9 at 1:30 pm, learn how the local organization All Hands Volunteers is aiding in disaster relief in Nepal following the devastating earthquake there. Meet the volunteer "heroes" who are pitching in to support the Nepalese people. An interactive the spring of 1940? What if the United States had decided not to intervene in the World Wars? What if the Ming Dynasty had not decided to turn inward in the 1420s? What if the Greeks had been conquered by the Persians in 480 BC? In the words of the immortal Hugh Trevor Roper, "History is not merely what happened; it is what happened in the context of what might have happened."

On Thursday, July 16 at 7:00 pm at the Marion Music Hall, Dr. Kirtland Mead will outline the key 'what if's' of Western history (many more likely at the time than what actually happened), and speculate about how our world would be different if they had occurred. He will also identify that short list of leaders who stood at key inflection points of history and really did determine important outcomes. Dr. Mead is an international management consultant, researcher and executive educator, who has lectured before for the Sippican Historical Society and Elizabeth Taber Library on a variety of international historical topics.

The presentation, which is sponsored by the Sippican Historical Society, is offered free of charge, though donations are gratefully accepted. No reservations are necessary. The Marion Music Hall is located at 164 Front Street. Ample parking is available across the street at Island Wharf. For more information, please call the SHS at 508-748-1116.

MOVIE REVIEW

He Said She Said

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

Brace. Starring Jake Graf and Harry Rundle.

Directed by Sophy Holland and Alicya Eyo.

Running time: 24 minutes.

Brace is a pocket-size romantic anecdote that engages an under-represented group: female-to-male transgender people. Adam (Jake Graf) is searching. Fresh out of a relationship with a woman, he drops into London's gay nightlife to see if the company of men works any better for him. He meets Rocky (Harry Rundle), a delicate-looking young man so nicknamed because of the fights he's been in ("I didn't say I started them"). Both people have a secret -- the same secret, as it turns out. Adam and Rocky are both transmen.

Adam is a bit further along, having obviously started on testosterone treatment and gained manly stubble. He looks like a cross between Jeremy Renner and Joseph Gordon-Levitt, two actors whose soulfulness plays against their masculinity. Adam seems like your typical brooding gay man. Rocky is smooth-skinned and wide-eyed, an innocent. One can see what Adam sees in Rocky, and vice versa.

Written by Graf, and co-directed by video artist Sophy Holland and actress Alicya Eyo, Brace is a compact story of difficult love that segues organically into a tale of violent intolerance. The gay-bashing scene at about the two-thirds point isn't there only so that we can feel sad; it moves the plot along as the victim of the beating effectively becomes outed. The directors stage the violence so that we wince, but don't rub our noses in it. The nightlife scenes, by entertaining contrast, are brief but punchy; unlike similar scenes in feature-length films, they don't drone on long past the point at which we want to go home.

Adam's ex Zoe (Georgia Winters) stays friends with him and even accompanies him and his friends to clubs; when the boys plan to go to a men-only joint, Zoe graciously bows out, even though she must be aware of the irony. (Adam is pre-op.) The directors handle Zoe as though they've been in her shoes, while Jake Graf has been saying in interviews that Brace has a strong element of autobiography. The story and dialogue feel lived, authentic.

I sometimes say a feature-length movie needed to be shorter, or to stay a short film if it had begun life as one (see Eat with Me). This movie needs and deserves to be fleshed out to regular length. It ends somewhat abruptly, and I wanted to know more -- about Adam and Rocky, and whether they overcome their secrets. From Boy Meets Girl to Transparent to Laverne Cox and Caitlyn Jenner, we've seen the male-to-female journey so often lately it's almost in danger of becoming a trope. Female-to-male is relatively fresh in narrative film, and it brings up a whole other volume of interesting things to say about gender and its performative aspects in culture. I'd welcome a longer Brace, a longer visit with these people.

PEARLS BEFORE SWINE
by Stephan Pastis

Congratulations to Jay McMahon of Swansea, the overall winner, with a time of 26:21 and to Megan O'Brien of Chicago, first female runner, with a time of 30:19. Jay and Megan both repeated their wins from last year! Daniel Appleton was the first Mattapoissett resident to finish with a time of 30:26. Complete results can be found on racewire.com.

Runners were treated to an enthusiastic display of spectator spirit throughout the five-mile run. This year's "most spirited site" is awarded to the Schlitzer family on North Street for their varied decorations and music. Once again the Harpoon Harmonizers energized the crowd at the Park prior to the race.

The Race Committee, chaired by Bill Tilden, would like to express a special thank you to the community, to the many generous sponsors and to the over 100 volunteers who helped make this day so successful.

St. Philip's Episcopal Church

Visiting clergy will conduct services at "the Church by the Town Beach" in Mattapoissett – St. Philip's Episcopal – from July 5 to September 6. Services using the 1928 Book of Common Prayer are at 8:00 am and 10:00 am.

On July 12, The Rev. Alexander S. Daley, Retired Rector, St. Paul's Church, North Andover, MA will officiate. All are welcome to attend.

Marion Fireworks Committee

The 2015 Marion Fireworks Committee would like to thank all of the supporters that made the Saturday, July 4, 2015 fireworks display such a success!

It was a fantastic night, and we would love to have a repeat of it in 2016!

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Although you don't like to change plans once they're set, once again, you might find that doing so can make a big difference in your favor. Family matters dominate the weekend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You continue to get encouragement for your proposals, including some support from unlikely sources. Use this positive flow to move forward with your plans. Good luck.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Family matters are dominant this week. It's a good time to be with those you love. It's also a good time to contact and reunite with loved ones with whom you've lost touch.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Be careful not to allow differences of opinion to create unpleasant feelings, especially in the workplace. A neutral observer could check out the situation and suggest a resolution.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) While the Lion's Den is the center of attention this week, with family matters dominating much of your time, workplace issues are also important. Try to find a balance between them.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) The future of a new relationship could depend on how much the usually impatient-to-get-things-done Virgo is willing to stop pushing and let things happen naturally.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Worry over a loved one's well-being is eased with good news from a sympathetic source. Your continued show of love and support is important. Stay with it.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) This is a good time to consider mending fences with someone you wish was back in your life. Forget about blame, and focus on the good things you once shared.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) This is a good week to start researching information regarding whatever changes you're considering, whether it involves a new home, a new location or a new job.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A long-anticipated job opportunity could turn out to be less than you expected. But appearances might be deceiving. Check it out before you decide it's not for you.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Good news: Adapting to a new situation might come more easily than you expected. You can look for continued support from colleagues who appreciate your contributions.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Someone you care for might need more reassurance from the typically "unemotional" Pisces. Go ahead. Open up, and you might be surprised at what you find when you do.

BORN THIS WEEK: You are a romantic at heart, although you can be amazingly practical when you need to be.

Buzzards Bay Musicfest

Buzzards Bay Musicfest returns for its 19th year with concerts July 8-12 at the Fireman Performing Arts Center at Tabor Academy, 235 Front Street in Marion, MA. The series opens and closes with orchestral concerts, with two chamber music concerts and a jazz performance held in-between. Each year brings new works from a variety of composers, performed by nationally and internationally prominent musicians. This year's selections will include works by Mozart, Brahms, Rachmaninoff, Liszt, Bach, and Beethoven, among others. A highlight of the festival is the Open Rehearsal for Children, which provides, for many youngsters, their first classical music experience and is a unique opportunity for young and aspiring musicians. It includes a post-rehearsal meet & greet session with the Musicfest's Guest Maestro, Andrés Cárdenes, as well as its many distinguished performers and the Artistic Director, Charles Stegeman.

While the Open Rehearsal for Children has long been a popular component of the Musicfest, a relatively new feature is its evening of jazz. This new tradition began in 2014, when a performance by jazz sensation Sean Jones was added to the concert series as a complement to the classical focus of the Musicfest's offerings. As trumpeter, bandleader, educator, and composer, the multi-talented Jones boasts an impressive resume. Having spent six years as lead trumpeter of the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra, Jones also ventured into education at Duquesne University, becoming Associate Professor of Jazz. In 2012, he also became Professor of Trumpet at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music and served as Artistic Director of both the Pittsburgh and Cleveland Jazz Orchestras. In 2014, Jones left Pittsburgh to become Chair of the Brass Department at Boston's prestigious Berklee College of Music. Berklee President

Marion Master Plan Forum

The Town of Marion is updating its Master Plan (MP), a document that will guide the Town's evolution through the coming decade and beyond. Community input is essential for producing a valuable, constructive MP. All interested in having a "voice" should plan to attend the Public Forum on Saturday, August 1 at 9:00 am in the Marion Music Hall. The discussion will be on housing, economic development, and land use.

The MP addresses housing and business development, infrastructure needs, natural resource protection, and public service plans. Massachusetts requires that municipalities update their MP every 8-10 years and makes it a prerequisite to obtain state funding for community development. Marion last updated its MP in 2006.

The Planning Board is leading the MP process, assisted by professionals from the Southeast Regional Planning and Economic Development District (SRPEDD) and a recently approved Town Planner. In addition, three advisory committees, composed of selected community members and representatives from town boards, will provide further insight on specific topics. Please mark your calendar today for this important Public Forum. Your engagement, input, and participation will ensure Marion's MP will protect our Town's special charm while meeting the future needs of our residents. For more information, visit www.srpedd.org/marion-master-plan.

Marion Council on Aging

The Annual Marion Social Club at 44 Pumping Station Rd. will hold a BBQ dinner for Marion elders on August 16 at 1:00 pm. Doors will open at noon with door prizes for everyone. Marion residents may bring one guest. No take out meals allowed, but meals will be delivered to the homebound. Transportation will be provided by the Council on Aging. The cost for the event is $0.50 (fifty cents). Please pick up your ticket at the Council on Aging.

After an incredibly positive reception in the past, this summer we will offer two weeks of the clinic at each level. You may choose to attend one or both. While attendance at Week 1 is not required to attend Week 2, Week 2 will be a continuation of the skills and concepts learned in Week 1. All levels of play are both welcome and encouraged. If you would like a chance to improve your game and have a lot of fun playing basketball this summer, join us on the court at Silvershell Beach!

Become a Volunteer Baywatcher with the BBC

Do you love the water and want to help protect it? Volunteer as a Baywatcher with the Buzzards Bay Coalition in your community this summer! The Coalition is looking for dedicated volunteers to help monitor the health of local waterways across the Buzzards Bay region.

The Coalition is looking for Baywatchers to monitor the water in the following locations:

- Falmouth: Mashapaquit Creek, Quissett Harbor, Rands Harbor, West Falmouth Harbor and Wild Harbor River
- Bourne: Back River, Briarwood Center, Eel Pond, Phinneys Harbor and Red Brook Harbor
- Wareham: Agawam River, Broadmarsh River, Onset Bay, Shell Point Bay and Weweantic River
- Rochester: Sippican River
- Marion: Blankinship Cove, Hammett Cove, Sippican Harbor and Wings Cove
- Mattapoisett: Brandt Island Cove, Eel Pond and Mattapoisett River
- Fairhaven: Little Bay and Nasketucket River
- New Bedford: Acushnet River, Clarks Cove and New Bedford Harbor
- Dartmouth: Apponagansett Bay and Salters Pond

The Baywatchers program is the largest volunteer-based coastal monitoring effort in New England. Through the Baywatchers program, the Coalition monitors all of Buzzards Bay's major rivers, coves and harbors – an area covering more than one-quarter of the Massachusetts coast. The data collected through the Baywatchers program form the foundation of the Coalition's efforts to restore and protect Buzzards Bay.

Baywatchers volunteer approximately one morning per week from May to September at a designated location in their community. Using a water testing kit,
